

Chef Bootcamp Employment Academy

This academy has been designed to support 20 participants developing valuable kitchen skills to achieve industry relevant qualifications as well as experience in how a commercial kitchen operates.

The aim is to provide a pathway for participants living in the Newry, Mourne and Down District Council area to move into an entry level chef role within the Hospitality and Tourism Industry.

The 4-week programme provides individuals with an exciting and unique opportunity to gain practical skills and experience in food preparation and basic cookery, alongside achieving industry relevant qualifications in Food Safety and Food Allergen Awareness. Placements with local employers will also take place 2 days per week.

With masterclasses delivered by local chefs and opportunities to get first-hand insight into how a commercial kitchen operates, the Chef's Bootcamp provides a starting point for those interested in a career as a chef.

This programme will be delivered by both South Eastern Regional College and Southern Regional College.
